It is related of the late Prentice that when editor and manager of a paper which helped to make him famous, a dissatisfied subscriber several years behind on his subscription, wrote Mr. Prentice that his paper always arrived very damp and he wished to know the cause thereof. Mr. Prentice simply wrote back that it was because there was so much due on it.

"I've come to kill a printer," said the little man. "Any printer in particular?" asked the foreman.
"Oh, anyone will do, I would prefer a small one, but I've got to make some sort of a show at fight or leave home, since the paper called my wife's tea party a 'swill' affair."

Mrs. Irene Vogt was born in sisters, Mrs. C. K. Sheets of this place, and Maude Archer of Bellflower, one brother, Will Archer

The Tribune extends sympathy.

Lucy J. Alvey

Lucy J. Alvey was born near Louisville Kentucky in 1831 and was raised in that neighborhood also married there to Thomas W.
Alvey who preceded her to the grave. To this union eight children were born six of which survive her; Ben J. of Steepleville, Mo., James M. of this place, Tom J. of St. Louis, Mrs. Mollie Mounts of St. Louis, Mrs. Lucy V. Housenburg of St. Louis and William A.
She died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Mounts where she had been making her home for the last few years. She died at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning Aug-16, 1905 from an abscess on the lungs contracted from a spell of the grippe.

She was a good religious woman attending church when she really wasn't able to do so, a good mother and beloved by all who knew her. The remains were brought up Wednesday afternoon and after Requiem High Mass at the Catholic church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning she was laid to rest beside her husband in the Catholic cemetery.

Sells & Downs Show Performers.

Whether the spectator be a lass from the farm or a belle from the social set, she is sure to admire the lady performers with the Great Sells & Downs Shows, which will exhibit in Montgomery Monday August 21st. In the circus ring is one place where a woman has an equal chance with her male companion. As a rule she draws a higher salary, receives the greater applause and more commendations from the management, than does the male performer. Notwithstanding their high salaries and the scarcity of performers worthy of being featured with a show of the magnitude of the Great Sells & Downs Shows, probably more lady performers can be seen with that show than with any other six shows.

At the head of this large number stands beautiful Lulu Davenport, one of the half-dozen equestriennes who have attained eminence as a bareback rider. Her routine or repertoire of feats and evolutions are so varied that she can completely change her act at every performance for days at a time.
In all she does there is naught that is commonplace. She scorns the ordinary and abhors the conventional. In the vernacular, she begins where the others leave off, and ends with an unapproachable achievement of acrobatic agility that is apparently unattainable and past belief unless seen with one's own eyes.
